Smallest Primary
Vote In Years Is Forecast Tomorrow

Some Election Observers See No More Than 15,000 Votes, At Most, In County, As War Takes Interest of General Public

A Columbiana county primary election campaign, most listless in many years, will come to a close tomorrow when the interested voters go to the polls to nominate their Republican or Democratic candidates.

Some political observers predict that the vote in Tuesday's primary election will be the lightest in the county's history, reaching 15,000 at the most. A heavy primary turnout vote would be between 25,000 and 30,000.

The war and industrial boom have taken the public's mind from the election, party leaders say.

Nevertheless, the Republicans must choose:

From two candidates, a nominee for county auditor.

From five candidates, a nominee for county commissioner.

From two candidates, a nominee for the state legislature.

From two candidates, a nominee for state senator.

From two candidates, a nominee for 18th district congressman.

From three candidates a nominee for state central committee man.

From three candidates, a nominee for state central committee woman.

The Democrats must choose:

From two candidates, a nominee for 18th district congressman.

From two candidates, a nominee for state central committee man.

From three candidates a nominee for state central committee woman.

The G. O. P. candidates are:

For county auditor: Irvin J. Vennard of East Liverpool, former auditor's bookkeeper, and Harry S. Landell, also of East Liverpool.

Commissioner: John E. Smith of St. Clair township, incumbent seeking his second term; Earl F. Smith of East Liverpool, Louis Sanford, Liverpool township trustee; John G. Hill of East Liverpool and James G. Stewart, Knox township garage operator.

State representative: John McRane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, incumbent; Don H. Reed of East Liverpool.

State senator: John P. Stephenson, East Liverpool, former state representative; Jack Preble, Jr., Steubenville, whose withdrawal was announced too late to eliminate his name. Preble is now in the Air Corps.

Congress: Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, who served a term in 1939-40, and Lee Woods, Martins Ferry mayor.

State central committee man: Russ C. Heddleston, East Liverpool, incumbent; Lawrence Sedgewick of Martins Ferry; Arch T. Fogle of St. Clairsville.

Committee woman: Novelle Brooks Cole of Yorkville, Elizabeth M. Lin and of Bellaire and Anna Beazell Wood of Steubenville.

The Democratic lineup:

REDS' MAIKOP
LINES CRACK
BEFORE NAZIS

German Motorized Troops
Continue Relentless
Thrusts

RUSSIANS FARING
BETTER IN NORTH

Stalin Forces Apparently
Carrying Out Scorched-
Earth Policy

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—Driven back by relentless thrusts of German motorized troops and Alpinists, Red army defenses before the oil fields of Maikop and in spurs of the Caucasian foothills appeared to be cracking today.

Front line dispatches telling of tremendous explosions roaring over a broad area seemed to indicate the Russians were carrying out the scorched earth policy in the first oil regions the Germans have been able to penetrate in their Caucasian thrust.

Claim Pyatigorsk

(The Germans, suddenly extending their drive eastward along the Bakou railway toward the Caspian, claimed the capture of Pyatigorsk 110 miles southeast of Armavir and midway between the Black sea and Caspian. They already had claimed to have reached the Caucasian slopes on a 250-mile front and captured Maikop and Krasnodar in the northwest Caucasus.)

In large-scale tank battles in Kotelniokovsk area of the Don elbow, southwest of Stalingrad, the Soviet machines appeared to be as strong as the Germans, and the Red army was counter-attacking with some success.

Five hundred miles north of the Caucasus, in the Voronezh flank, the Russians were making further headway, expanding their bridgeheads on the west bank of the Don, taking several populated places in violent fighting, and repulsing German counter-attacks between the Don and Voronezh.

The Germans were bringing up reserves and still maintaining communications with their groups before the city, however.

In the oil-bearing Maikop-Krasnodar area of the northwest Caucasus, said today's communique, the Germans were "striving hard to advance," and dispatches from the front said great shrouds of dust and smoke were draped over a broad landscape already baked by a broiling summer sun.

Will Destroy Oil
Pravda said oiling blasts measured a wide area, and it was reasonable, observers here said, to believe that the Russians would destroy the oil installations before the Germans reach them. The Maikop fields produced about seven per cent of Russia's petroleum.

As the battle spread southward, dispatches told of burning wheat fields, indicating that in some sectors the Russians had not been able to harvest the grain before the approach of the enemy, as they were able to do farther north.

There was no report here indicating whether the Russians who had been battling along the Black sea and Sea of Azov coasts had been cut off by the German advance south of Kuchchevka.

20 PLANTS RECEIVE
PRODUCTION AWARDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Twenty major American war plants received new army navy production awards today following President Roosevelt's declaration that battle needs demanded "an unceasing flow" of weapons and materials.

The united efforts of our army and navy striking at the enemy on every continent and every ocean, and of our people at home working without interruption to turn out the weapons of war," Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday, "cannot fail to produce the victory which will again establish the tradition of freedom throughout the world."

In a message read over a special broadcast, the President said "great progress" had been made on the production front, but added that "in terms of what will be required to defeat our enemies, we have only just begun to get into our stride."

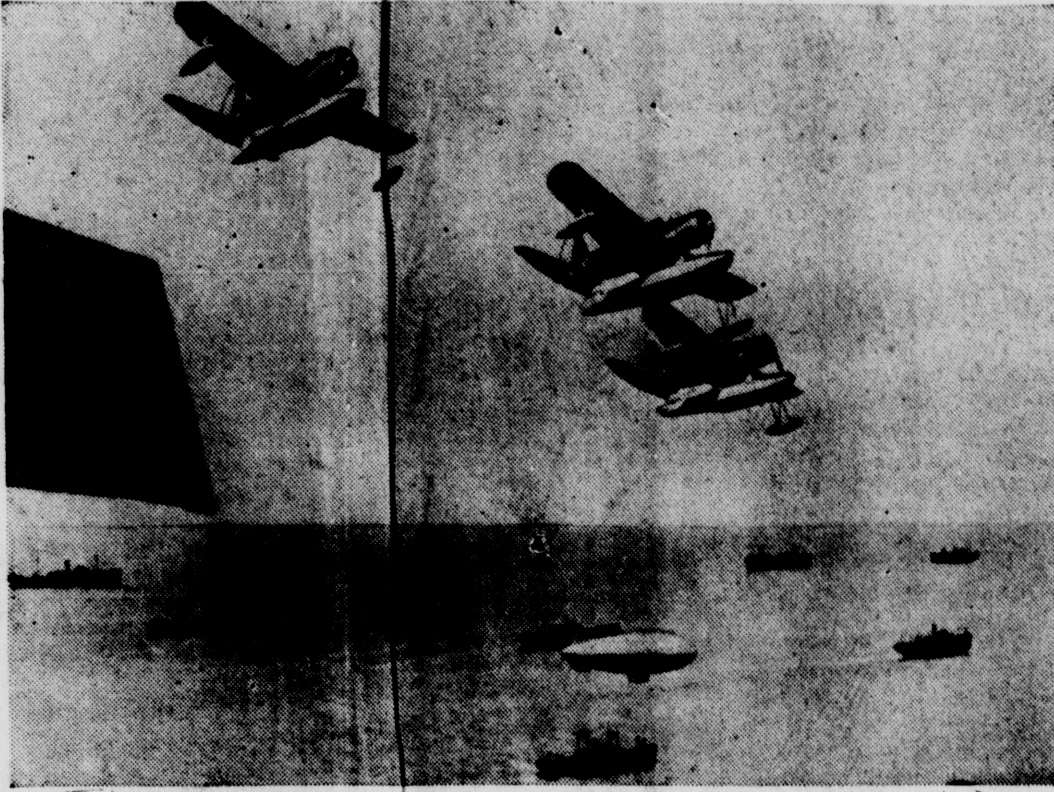

The President's message featured a broadcast during which top government and labor officials pledged their united efforts to speed war production.

The 20 firms mentioned included the Ohio Locomotive Crane Co. of Bucyrus, O.

Coast Guard Wings Over An Atlantic Convoy

United States Coast Guard patrol planes join forces with a Navy blimp in protecting an Atlantic convoy loaded with supplies for our far-flung war fronts. U-boats have found it rather difficult to evade these shepherds of the sky. The head of the German submarine fleet paid tribute to the efficacy of U. S. anti-submarine measures and specifically mentioned the important part played by the lighter-than-air craft.

$15,000 IS DAMAGE
IN CANFIELD FIRE

Damage estimated at about 15,000 was checked today in a fire which destroyed the main barn and an adjoining machinery shed at the Mahoning county experiment farm near Canfield Saturday afternoon.

The blaze is believed to have started from a threshing machine blower.

Firemen from Canfield, Boardman and Austintown were unable to check the spread of the flames which quickly razed the structure, parts of which were said to have been 75 years old.

L. W. Sherman, farm manager, said the barn was well-filled with wheat, corn, hay and straw. The wheat included 500 bushels of Thorne certified seed wheat, a new variety. Only two-fifths of this wheat had been harvested and the rest is in the field.

One hundred chickens died in the fire which also destroyed a potato picker and digger.

NEW DRAFT GROUP
LEAVES SATURDAY

August Call Is Almost As Large As That For July

Another large group of Salem draft board eligibles will go to the Akron examining station Saturday for final physical examinations.

Those passing the tests will be inducted into the Army and given 14-day furloughs before departing for the army reception center at Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Those affected by the latest call have received their notices to report for examination and induction.

The call is almost as large as the one which summoned district selectees two weeks ago, draft board officials at the Memorial building said today.

U. S.-BUILT TANKS
TOUGH CUSTOMERS

DETROIT, Aug. 10.—Workers in the Detroit (Chrysler) tank arsenal heard today how a German 88 millimeter anti-tank gun had to hit an American-built M-3 army tank 12 times before it was stopped.

Major General Levin H. Campbell, Jr., chief of ordnance services of supply, related the incident in presenting to the plant and workers the joint army-navy "E" award "for high achievement in the production of war equipment."

He told also how another M-3 was hit by fifty 50-millimeter, armor-piercing, high explosive shells and was not put out of action.

Chrysler recently switched from the M-3 to the newer, more powerful M-4, all-welded tank and this, General Campbell said already is at the front. The M-4's, he said have heavier armor and are faster than the fleet M-3.

"Though the enemy may capture the first M-4 to appear on the battlefield (and he hasn't)," the ordnance chief continued, "it will take him a year to duplicate the tank, or even make corresponding improvements in his new models on the production line."

"By that time, we'll have an all-together new one out!"

INDIA FACES
NEW VIOLENCE

Workers Quit Jobs, Riots
Flare; 23 Are Wounded
In Bombay

(By Associated Press)

BOMBAY, Aug. 10.—The All-India Congress party's campaign of mass civil disobedience gained momentum today as workers left their jobs in 18 mills and rioting flared anew in Bombay, where police fired into a large and turbulent crowd which refused to disperse.

Violent disorders broke out in various parts of the city, with demonstrators stoning suburban trains in one area and burning a government grain shop in another.

Twenty-three were sent to the hospital with bullet wounds suffered when police fired twice into groups in the Dadar district of Bombay. In Poona, police fired on a crowd, mostly of students, near Parsurambhau college, and two were removed to a hospital. Schools and colleges there were closed. Goondas, the Hindu name for hoodlums, threw bottles through windows.

Students arrested
At Lucknow, police fired also on a crowd of striking university students who were trying to form a parade. Thirteen were arrested.

The work stoppages in some Bombay mills were in response to Mohandas K. Gandhi's "do or die" call for a "complete non-violent means" and all on non-violent means.

The campaign entered its second day amid shootings, showers of bottles and shouts of demonstrators, there were portents of greater trouble ahead.

Bands of Hindus stormed some Moslem shops in the "trouble area" of south central Bombay. Police have the greatest fear of repetition of the communal Moslem-Hindu riots which have followed previous civil disobedience campaigns. These riots often were the bloodiest and most difficult to suppress.

Throughout the city troops were stationed in groups ranging from a dozen soldiers to a full platoon.

The curfew from 7 p. m. to daylight last night, but the mid-morning saw a renewal of the disturbances.

Though deprived of leadership by the swift arrest of Mohandas K. Gandhi and his chief lieutenants,

LEETONIA ENSIGN
REPORTED MISSING

LEETONIA, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Clara Cushman has been notified by the U. S. Navy that her son, Ensign John Cushman, disappeared at sea on June 3 while on patrol duty as pilot in charge of one of the Navy's Martin Mariners, which carried four officers and a crew of nine.

Ensign Cushman was graduated from Leetonia high school and from St. Lawrence college, Canton, N. Y., class of 1939.

He enlisted in Navy aviation in the fall of 1939 and started his training as a pilot at Floyd Bennett Air field. Later he was transferred to the naval base at Pensacola, Fla., and was awarded his wings there in September 1940. He earned the rank of ensign and on June 3, 1942, was promoted to lieutenant.

Ensign Cushman, brother of John, is also serving with the U. S. armed forces. He is now with the 310th Technical School Squadron at Keesler field, Miss.

5TH COLUMN GROUND
MARKERS DESTROYED

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Ground markers emblazoned by rural fifth columnists with plows and other farm implements to guide enemy bombers to vital objectives have been discovered by army air observers and destroyed.

Danger to large eastern airports and plane factories to which the markers pointed thus has been averted, Col. Dache M. Reeves, commanding the First Ground Air Support unit of the First Air Force, said in making the disclosure yesterday.

"Proper action" was taken by army intelligence officers and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Colonel Dache said, without announcing the fate of those who fashioned the ingenious markers, visible only from the air.

SIX ARE INJURED
IN TWO ACCIDENTS

Two Head-On Collisions
Are Investigated By Highway Patrol

Two head-on collisions in the district Saturday night brought injuries to six persons, according to Salem state highway patrol reports. Five persons were painfully injured in an accident on Route 30, five miles west of Kensington, at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Max O. May, 47, of Mineral City, whose car was reported to have crashed into a machine operated by Charles Whitlaby, 35, of Kensington, suffered a crushed left side of the face, possible loss of his left eye, lacerations of the forehead and arms, severe lacerations of the right hand and shock.

Whitlaby received a fractured left collarbone, severe lacerations of the forehead and nose and abrasions and lacerations of the body.

Whitlaby's two sons, Alvin and Ronald, riding with him at the time, suffered severe bruises of the face and lost several front teeth. Another child riding with them, Donald Diville, had several front teeth broken and suffered from shock and lacerations.

All were treated by a Hanoverton physician, State Patrolman Ralph Lanker reported.

The other head-on crash occurred on Route 170, just north of the junction of Route 154, at 9:40 p. m. Saturday and involved machines driven by Fred P. Bowen, 24, of New Springfield, and Floyd Hostetter, 25, of Rogers.

The drivers escaped unhurt but Jean Hostetter, 24, of Rogers, suffered a badly sprained right arm and was treated at East Palestine. Bowen was cited by the patrol on a reckless driving charge.

George Butler of Columbiana was treated at Salem City hospital at 1 a. m. Sunday for lacerations of the left side of his face, suffered when his car went into a ditch on Route 165, three-quarters of a mile east of Greenford. The motorists' face was cut by the broken windshield.

Earl E. Knight, 18, of R. D. 1, East Palestine, arrested by the patrol on a charge of having no operator's license, was fined $2 and costs at East Palestine over the weekend.

Powerful Bombers
Hammer Blows On
Solomon Islands

Official Reports from Allied Headquarters Meager and Extremely Cautious; Tokyo Claims of Success Are Minimized

By C. YATES McDANIEL
GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia,
Aug. 10.—Powerful bomber formations of the Allied Southwest Pacific Command rained sledge hammer blows on enemy bases in the New Guinea-New Britain area, it was reported today, as air and sea forces locked in battle with the Japanese for the mountainous Solomon islands and their strategic waters.

Official reports from Allied headquarters were meager and extremely cautious at the end of the fourth day of the first United Nations attempt to wrest the initiative from the Japanese in the southwest Pacific.

But observers minimized Tokyo broadcast claims to have sunk or damaged a large number of United States and Australian warships and transports.

They also emphatically questioned Tokyo radio assertions that their Solomon island defenders had incurred the loss of only seven planes and damage to two cruisers in the first day and night.

While eagerly awaiting news of the outcome of the struggle for jungle-covered islands under the equatorial sky 600 miles distant from this continent, Australian headquarters were heartened by reports from advanced bases describing the vigor with which day and night air attacks were being pressed home against the bases upon which the Japanese depend for reinforcement.

Rabaul Hit Hard
Rabaul, New Britain, a crossroads for Japanese forces arriving from their mandated islands and fanning out to the Southwest Pacific, Gasmata on the south coast of New Britain, and Lae and Salamaua on the northeast coast of New Guinea were bearing the full brunt of these aerial onslaughts.

A roaring air battle took place over Rabaul in one of the attacks Aug. 8 when 20 zeros rose to ward off big four-motored flying fortresses which dropped low to blast the airfield with 2,000-pound and nose-mounted 100-pound explosives.

Seven of the fighters were shot down, and the raiders believed many of the others crashed when they attempted to land on the bomb-riddled runways.

Latest word on the continuing action in the Solomons indicated the initiative remained with the American fleet and other Allied forces which joined the battle Friday.

This information was relayed from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, U. S. Pacific naval commander. He gave no details as to the scope of the area under attack or the extent of the operations but all signs were that the drive might be developing into a major offensive.

Admiral Nimitz said the attack, on the Tulagi area in the southeast part of the Solomons, 600 miles off northeastern Australia, was being pressed by sea and air against Japanese land-based planes and garrisons and that "the operations are progressing favorably despite enemy opposition."

A brief communique issued in Washington late yesterday said that "considerable enemy resistance has been encountered and it is still too early to announce results or to estimate either our own or enemy losses."

Japs Broadcast Claims
The Japanese, without confirmation from any Allied source—broad-cast claims from Tokyo that they had sunk 22 Allied warships and transports and damaged more than six others. These enemy claims were considered in the light of their fanciful reports on results of the

NOW WE'RE GETTING SOMEWHERE

Things are beginning to look better. The air is clearing. In one of the best jobs of explanation done so far in this war, Elmer Davis has used his new authority as chief of war information to blow away a lot of horse feathers. Talking to his countrymen like a Dutch uncle, he has done more to strengthen resolve and inspire confidence than anything that has happened since the bombing of Tokyo.

On the heels of his summary of what's what in the war effort—what's wrong as well as what's right—has come information of the beginning of positive action in the Pacific. Significance of what is going on out there cannot be determined till more information is available, but for once it looks as though the Axis brethren had been denied the privilege of moving first. This happens to be one of those points of strategy that the people understand instinctively.

While Mr. Davis didn't choose to say so in as many words, public feeling about the war effort has been affected by a feeling of confused purpose. The people's enthusiasm for what they are doing and should be doing has been handicapped by absence of the stimulus that positive action invariably produces. They have not grasped the plan of global warfare they know is being waged; they have not understood how the United States fits into the master strategy. To be specific, the people have not had the advantage of working toward a goal. They have been waiting for the inspiration of knowing that the United States at last was "beginning to roll." As Mr. Davis himself says, "wars are not won by production alone; they are won only by fighting battles with what you produce and winning some of those battles."

This is the kind of honest analysis by official sources that the people have been waiting to hear. The United States has been waiting for a spark to touch off its real potentialities and perhaps this is it.

NO COST TOO GREAT

Disclosure that the war fund total—money spent or to be spent—has reached the incomprehensible total of $2,514,657,289 since June 1, 1940, is not surprising in the least. For a long time the financial statistics of this government have been regarded like distances to the nearest stars—with nothing but admiration for the intellects that can figure out such matters.

This does not signify any feeling of despair. A few years ago when it was the custom to wall over the growth of the national debt, spokesmen for the government explained that it as proper to go into debt for relief of human suffering. The point was firmly established. The point that it is necessary to go into debt to save the nation was already established.

No cost is too great if the United States succeeds in the war. In other words, the cost must not be regarded by itself, but in comparison with the consequences of defeat. The cost of defeat would make the sum of 200 billion dollars seem insignificant. Certainly in the case of France, which lacked the resolution to provide what was needed for its armed forces, the cost of defeat has proved to be so much greater than the cost of adequate preparation that every Frenchman must wish now for a chance to buy back his freedom at any price.

This rationalization of debt does not dismiss the possibility of extravagance in war spending. The government has not been released from its fixed obligation to spend the people's resources prudently. Spending alone cannot win the war. Huge appropriations do not hurt the Axis. The money must be used wisely. It must not be wasted. Everything possible must be done to maintain confidence in the enormous spending program that has been undertaken.

WHY?

A logical person confronted with a statement from the office of price administration that rationing books and forms were being prepared on shoes, clothing and fuel oil would conclude that the OPA finger is being pointed at these commodities. Thereafter, if so inclined, he would think about buying a few clothes and a pair of shoes. If enough logical persons did this, there would be a shortage and rationing, it might be expected, would follow as a matter of necessity, instead of choice.

It would not be logical, therefore, for OPA to say anything in advance about the possibility of rationing, unless its purpose was to hasten the process. Yet, that is exactly what has been done in the case of shoes, clothing and fuel oil, just as happened previously in the case of sugar, tires and, in the seaboard states, gasoline. It is not easy to understand. It is impossible to do anything else but wonder why OPA seems to have adopted a policy of making its tough job tougher than it needs to be.

CASE CLOSED

Electrocution of six of the eight German saboteurs sent to the United States secretly to do damage and imprisonment of the other two closes their case. It is a certainty that the possibility of further sabotage has not been closed.

Capture of the eight saboteurs was a tribute to the alertness of a coast guardsmen and the tenacity of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. But it was also a pointed reminder that the United States with its long coastline is especially vulnerable to a maneuver that almost succeeded.

No one has doubted from the outset of the war that Germany would try to do at least as much damage as it did in World War I. No one doubted that it was better organized to do damage in this country than it was then. The capture of the eight saboteurs merely confirmed what was expected.

There will be more saboteurs. There will need to be more alert coast guardsmen, more aggressive work by the FBI, a general tightening of precautions. Throughout this war Germany's intended victims have made one tragic mistake; they have underestimated Germany's ruthless will to destroy its enemies by all means available. The United States cannot afford to rest on its laurels merely because it has disposed of eight German saboteurs. There will be many more to dispose of before the war is over.

This may be in connection with public or community advancement or well-being, in which those in high places as well as elderly persons or old-established institutions lend hearty co-operation.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a year of much accomplishment, progress and happiness, with many interests under a most expansive and productive impetus. Association of plans in conjunction with public or group welfare, in which those in position and power are ready to cooperate, should be pushed toward ambitious goals. Elders and old institutions may also be willing supporters.

A child born on this day should be capable and ambitious, with sound judgment, profound insight and practical constructive ability.

SOME SUNBURN AND SOME TAN

Whys and Wherefores Explained by Clendening pallor of the face. Many who coped by the way were ruddy or brown.

Which is another way of saying that a sunburn or a coat of tan is not necessarily a guarantee of blooming physical vigor.

The usual warning to vacationists who want to come home with a good coat of tan is especially needed this year when vacationers are likely to be shorter than regular, and you are tempted to compress your suntan accomplishments into ten days or two weeks exposure. The warning is, of course, take it easy and take it slowly.

Making a full exposure the first day to the blazing sun of several hours duration will not result in tan to most people, but in sunburn, which is an entirely different thing and which, contrary to popular belief, does not turn into tan at all.

Of course, there are large individual variations. The dark brunette who is full of pigment and melanin everywhere can mobilize that pigment on the surface of the body with exposure to the sun and never burn at all, but simply begin to tan from the first hour. These skins are the envy of the rest of the populace, but notice they belong to people with dark hair and dark eyes. At the other end of the scale are the extreme blonds and redheads who burn first and tan only after repeated daily exposure. Some of them never tan at all but simply get a mild burn day after day.

In between are most of us who will tan eventually—say the end of two weeks—but who should take it easy, exposing one part of the skin at a time and that only for half an hour at first, getting just a mild enough stimulation to make the pigment cells begin to vibrate to activity and mobilize on the surface.

It is the ultra-violet rays of the sun which cause the burning, and if these could be partially filtered out of the heat rays, it would probably stimulate the pigment to mobilize. For this there are many chemicals to hasten tanning and prevent sunburn, to be applied to the skin before exposure, all of them of some virtue, but none of them infallible.

Filter Out the Rays

Those with pigments in them to filter out the ultra-violet rays are the most logical. But nearly any oil or grease absorbs ultra-violet radiation, and although their action is insufficient to prevent the effects of prolonged exposure to the sun completely, they do materially diminish them.

The best are mineral oil or a combination of mineral oil, sesame and peanut oil. It is possible to incorporate in the oil a chemical paraffin, the best being tannic acid or quinine derivatives or methyl salicylate or zinc oxide 10 per cent or sodium salicylate or sodium benzoate 3 per cent.

Sunburn may be severe enough to cause prostration, nausea, fever and evidence of kidney derangement. It should be treated like any burn, with the application of cold cream or ointments containing some local anesthetic such as nupercaine or anesthetic.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. D.: Could any physical harm come from taking the drug dilantin for a period of a year or two?

Answer: A great many people are taking dilantin regularly without harm.

M. E. T.: Will you please define the field of physical and occupational therapy?

Answer: Physio-therapy is massage, heat, cold, water treatment, electrical and light treatment. Occupational therapy is the employment of the hands in weaving, carpentry, and is mostly used in the treatment of nervous disorders. Physio-therapy is useful in many conditions—arthritis, muscular rheumatism, headache, skin disease, nervous disorders among others.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I.—The 680 residents of this coastal island collected 24,154 pounds of scrap rubber during the drive or 35.5 pounds per person. They said the record collection was possible since they never had been able to dispose of any of the rubber that had been brought to the island in past years since disposal by boat was too expensive.

Guns—Planes—Tanks QUICK!

5 Reasons Why

- 1 By investing in War Bonds you help provide the planes, the tanks, the guns and the ships we must have to survive and conquer.
- 2 You prove that you are a patriotic American.
- 3 You aid the morale of our fighting men, by showing them that the entire Nation is behind them.
- 4 You prove to our enemies that we are a United People.
- 5 You protect your own financial future, as every $18.75 you invest in a War Bond brings you back $25 in 10 years. You make the world's safest investment, by buying a share in the world's most powerful country.

"LISTEN, Bud—glad to see you getting along. Sure, I know you've had to tighten your belt—for a long time you took it on the chin, and now you're getting good pay.

"That's O.K. with us soldiers. You've got your part to play, just as we have ours. You've got to make the stuff—and we've got to deliver it.

"But just a second . . . maybe it's none of our business, but, say, are you throwing your money around?

"Here's something straight from the shoulder. You see, we soldiers want to feel that we're not fighting alone—that you're behind us—every one of you, man, woman and youngster.

"How? Listen . . .

"How many WAR BONDS are you buying? Are you in on the Payroll Savings Plan? If you're not, you'll get in—won't you? This is your war—isn't it? We're fighting for you, aren't we?

"So look . . .

"When they come around to you, at your job, and ask you to put aside TEN PERCENT of your earnings every payday—a dime from every dollar—you'll do it, won't you—for us?

"You'll get a WAR BOND every time you've saved $18.75—and that Bond will build up, year by year, to $25 in ten years.

"So you're helping us and protecting yourself at the same time by your savings. Can't beat that, can you?

"We've got to have guns and planes, and tanks, and ships and bullets—and you've got to pay for them—from your own, voluntary WAR BOND savings.

"Invest a dime from every dollar in us—and keep it up, week after week, month after month. Then count on us to blast hell out of the Japs, the Huns, and their whole bloodthirsty gang.

"O.K., Bud—now let's go!"

NAVY RECRUITERS WILL VISIT SALEM

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—Navy recruiting officers in northeastern Ohio today were charged with the responsibility of investigating foreign-born seeking to enlist in this service.

At a meeting of recruiting officers from 38 counties in the Cleveland area, Lieut. R. H. Dombey announced that henceforth local stations would share the burden of checking records of applicants who are not citizens by birth and those whose parents were foreign-born.

Navy regulations require that no foreign-born applicants be accepted unless they have been naturalized for 10 years and have resided continuously in this country for the same period. Applicants of foreign-born parentage are acceptable only when loyalty is established without question.

Lieut. Dombey said the area would seek 5,000 applicants during September and reported the number recruited during the past month exceeded all previous monthly records by about 300.

To spur enlistment, the navy is sending its mobile unit, the U. S. S. Recruiter, throughout the area this month. The schedule includes: Newark, Aug. 11; Zanesville, Aug. 12; Steubenville, Aug. 17; East Liverpool, Aug. 18; Massillon, Aug. 20; Canton, Aug. 21; Akron, Aug. 23; Alliance, Aug. 24; Salem, Aug. 25; Youngstown, Aug. 26; Warren, Aug. 27.

TELEGRAPH UNION OBJECTS TO SONGS

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Telegraph messengers should confine themselves to delivering telegrams, not singing them, says Joseph P. Selby. Furthermore, they shouldn't be called on to take the dog out for a walk or make a fourth at bridge.

Selby, who is president of the American Communications association (CIO), demands the immediate elimination of such services on the ground they constitute a serious impediment to wartime communications.

"The telegraph industry is a war industry," he wrote in a letter to Chairman James L. Fly of the Federal Communications Commission in which he cited alleged instances of official messages being delayed for many hours.

"Over its circuits travel messages which make possible our whole complex manufacturing and distributing systems. No impediments should be permitted to hold telegraph operations during wartime below the maximum level of efficiency."

"The most obvious impediment to achievement of a maximum level of efficiency for wartime communications is continued handling of fixed-test messages, dog-walking, singing telegrams and other non-essential services."

Both Western Union and Postal Telegraph spokesmen, when approached on the matter, said special services never were allowed to interfere with official messages.

WELLSVILLE GIRL FATALLY WOUNDED

WELLSVILLE, Aug. 10.—Miss Cele Fiber, 17, a high school senior, was shot and accidentally killed here Saturday by Seaman Robert Weekly, 20, spending a furlough from the Great Lakes naval training station with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weekly.

Weekly was held pending investigation by Coroner Arnold W. Devon, although Acting Chief of Police Harry R. Dastman said Miss Fiber exonerated him in a statement before her death in the East Liverpool City hospital.

The tragedy occurred when Weekly called at the Fiber home to obtain a 22 caliber revolver owned by his brother, John, believing the gun unloaded, clicked the trigger, and a bullet struck the girl in the chest.

Miss Fiber, who was a drum majorette for the Wellsville Firemen's Drum and Bugle Corps, was queen of Wellsville's homecoming celebration last year.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fiber, and two brothers survive.

Author of "GOODBYE, MR. CHIPS" And "LOST HORIZON"

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR
But today, the eleventh of November 1918, drivers and conductors chatted boisterously as if they were in no hurry at all, and passed cheery remarks to the couple who sat at the marble-topped table in the window above. They could see the man was a soldier by his great coat, and it was a good day for saying cheery things to soldiers.

"Wonder 'ow long it'll take to get the rest of you boys 'ome, mate?" "Maybe they'll march 'em to Berlin now and a scout the old Kaiser...."

"Seems queer to 'ave the war end up like this—right on the dot, as you might say...."

"Wouldn't surprise me if it's just a rumor like them Russians comin' through.... But it's all in the papers, see—it sez the Germans 'ave signed a what's-a-name—means peace, don't it?" All this and much else in snatches of news and comment.

The proprietor always answered: "You're right there, mister!" "That's just what I always said myself," or, if the remark had been especially emphatic: "You 'it the nail straight on the 'ead that time, mister!"

Towards noon the fog grew very thick indeed and drivers reported crowds still increasing at the busy centers; workpeople had been sent home from offices and factories, as well as children from all the schools. Then the trams stopped running, impeded by fog and crowds equally, and as there were no more customers at the Coronation Cafe the proprietor set to work behind his counter, polishing a large tea urn till it glowed in the gloom like a copper sun. Presently he came over to the table. He was a little man, pale-faced, bald, with watery eyes and a drooping mustache.

"Wouldn't you like a bite o' somethin'?" The girl looked to her companion, saw him frame a word and then begin to struggle with it; she intervened quickly: "Sounds a good idea. What have you got?"

"Eggs, that's about all. 'Ow d'yer like 'em—scot or 'ard?" Again she looked across the table before answering. "Oh, middlin' all do."

"That's the ticket. That's 'ow I like 'em myself. And two more coffees?"

"Righto."

"Keep yer warmed-up a day like this, War's over, they say, but anybody can die of pneumonia."

"That's a fact, so bring those coffees quick."

He went away chuckling; then the girl leaned across the table and said: "Don't look so scared. He won't bite."

"I know. But I'm always like that with strangers—at first. And besides—I don't think I've enough money."

"Well, who cares about that? I have."

"Now don't start being the gentleman. You were telling me about yourself when that fellow came up. Go on with the story." He stared at her rather blankly till she added: "Unless you'd rather not. Your mind's on something else, I can see."

"I'd just noticed that sign outside." He pointed through the window to a board overhanging the pavement above the cafe doorway—the words "Good Pull-Up for Garmen" were dimly readable through the fog. "Carmen," he muttered, "That gives me something—why, yes.... Melba."

"Melba? Oh, you mean the opera?" She began to laugh. "And Melba gives me peaches. What is this—a game?"

"Sort of. I have to keep on doing it, one of the doctors says—part of his treatment. You see, I've lost my memory about certain things. It's like being blind and having to feel around for shapes and sizes."

"I'm terribly sorry. I didn't realize, or I wouldn't have laughed."

"Oh, that's all right—I'd rather you laugh. I wish everybody would laugh.... Now what was it you were asking me before?"

"Well, I was wondering why you had to be in a hospital at all, but now of course I understand."

"Yes—till I get thoroughly better, I darsay I will—eventually."

"And then your memory'll come back?"

"That's what they think."

"But in the meantime what are you going to do?"

"Just wait around till it happens, I suppose."

"Isn't there some way of tracing any of your relatives and friends? Advertising for them, or something like that?"

"They've tried. Some people did come to see me at the hospital once, but—I wasn't their son."

"I'll bet they were disappointed. You'd make a nice son for somebody."

"Well, I was disappointed too. I'd like to have belonged to them—to have had a home somewhere."

He then gave her some of the facts he had written out for the doctors—that he had been blown up by a shell during 1917, and that when he recovered consciousness he was in a German hospital somewhere, unidentified and unidentified.

Later there had been an exchange of wounded and shell-shocked prisoners through Switzerland, and by this means the problem had been passed on to the English—but with no more success.

He had been a pretty bad case at first, with loss of speech and muscular coordination, but those things had gradually returned—perhaps the memory would follow later. Altogether he had spent over a year in various hospitals, of which he liked the one at Melbury least of all. "Mind you," he added, seizing the chance to say what he thought of saying before, "I'm miles better than some of the others. You'd think so too if you saw them."

"And that's why you shouldn't see them at all. Doesn't exactly help you, does it?"

"No, but I suppose all the hospitals are so crowded—there's no chance to separate us properly."

The proprietor, coming up with the coffee and eggs, saw them break off their conversation suddenly. "Gettin' a bit dark in 'ere—I'll give yer a light," he murmured, to satisfy a dawning curiosity.

Standing on a bench he pulled the chain under a single incandescent burner in the middle of the ceiling; it sent a pale greenish glow over their faces. He stared at them both. "You don't look so chirpy, mate. Feelin' bad?"

"He's just tired, that's all." And then, to get the fellow out: "Bring a packet of cigarettes, will you?"

When he had gone she leaned across "That's what you were trying to ask for in the shop, wasn't it?"

"Yes, but I didn't really need them."

"Oh, come, I know what you need more than you do yourself. Don't be scared of that little chap—he means all right."

The proprietor returned to their table with the cigarettes. "Looks to me as if 'e might 'ave the flu, miss. Lots o' flu about 'ere. Dyer like flies, they was, up at the 'ospital a few weeks ago."

When he had gone again she comforted: "There now, don't worry. If you don't like it here, let's eat and then we'll be off."

"It isn't that I don't like it, only I'd rather them not come after me, that's all."

"Why should they?"

"He mentioned the hospital. He knows I'm there, just as you did when you first saw me. It's in my face—the way I look at people. I haven't a chance—even if I knew where to go. They come round the wards every night at six. If I get back by then there'll be no trouble."

"You really mean to go back?" "There's nothing else to do." He smiled wanly. "You've been very kind to bring me here."

"Oh, don't talk like that."

"But you have. I'm grateful. Maybe I'll be more satisfied now, because I shall know I'm not really well enough to be on my own—yet."

They ate in silence for a few moments after that; then she went up to the counter and paid the bill. "One and twopenny, miss. Can't make it any more or I would. An' if I were you, I'd get your pal 'ome pretty quick. 'E don't look as if 'e ought to be aht, an' that's a fact."

A moment later the fog was curling round them in swatches, fanning the sound of cheers over distant invisible roofs. She took his arm again as they walked to the next corner, then turned through quiet residential roads away from the center of the town. But at one place jubilant householders were dancing round a bonfire, and to avoid passing through the blaze of light she made a second detour, along alleys that twisted more and more confusingly till, with a sudden rush of sound, they were back in the main street, caught in a madder, wilder throng. Already the war had been over for several hours, and the first shock of exultation was yielding to a hysteria that disguised an anti-climax. The war was over.... but now what?

The myriad dead were still dead; no miracle of human nature could restore limbs and sight and sanity; the grinding hardships of those four years could not be wiped out by a headline. Emotions were numb, were to remain half-numbed for a decade, and relief that might have eased them could come no nearer than a fret to the nerves. A few things were done, symbolically; men climbed street lamps to tear away the shades that had darkened them since the first air raids in human history; shop windows suddenly blazed out with new globes in long-empty sockets. The traffic center at Melbury was like a hundred others in and around London that day; the crowds, the noise, the light, the fog. Beyond a certain limit of expression there was nothing to say, nothing much even to do; yet the urge to say and to do was self-torturing. So, as the day and the night wore on, throats were swayed by sharp caprices—hoisting shoulder-high

Quality Dry Cleaner Provides Complete Protection For Every Article Handled

EACH FABRIC GETS OWN SPECIAL CARE

Close Inspection, Identification First Step In Process

What happens when my things arrive at a good cleaner? In a quality dry cleaning establishment, such as the Paris, each article is thoroughly inspected at the time an identifying number is placed on it. Curtains, which are weakened by sunlight and atmospheric gases, are carefully inspected for such conditions, damaged areas, holes. Buttons, which may catch on other garments, are covered with individual bags.

Draperies are gathered together and covered with a metal box to keep them from catching, and possibly tearing other articles. Knitted goods, and buttons are removed, as well as buttons known to deteriorate in cleaning solvent need cleaners employ experts who know, and these are placed in a clearly marked envelope, to be replaced at the end of the process. Any special washing as to what types of spots are present is also noted, so that spots may be pre-treated before the dry cleaning bath.

Home furnishings or dresses made of fabrics known to shrink or stretch are carefully measured. Knitted goods, and buttons are removed, as well as buttons known to deteriorate in cleaning solvent need cleaners employ experts who know, and these are placed in a clearly marked envelope, to be replaced at the end of the process. Any special washing as to what types of spots are present is also noted, so that spots may be pre-treated before the dry cleaning bath.

There is no time for such meticulous attention by the inspectors have to look over so many garments each hour that small things may not even be noticed.

are all types of fabrics given the same treatment?

No. All fabrics cannot take the same treatment. Some require long runs of the mechanical washer; some would be ruined if they were tossed more than a few minutes.

The quality cleaner classifies, roughly, as follows:

Tough woollens, light and dark. Fancy woollens, light and dark. Silks, rayons and cottons, white articles.

Beaded dresses, bel's, gloves (usually cleaned by hand).

Many items do not fall into any of these classes, but must virtually have individual attention! Among them are sheer curtain fabrics (many of which are handled only at customer's risk); velvets and against laces and tulle; angoras, metallic fabrics, specially processed rayons and lacquered fabrics.

Reliable cleaners, like the Paris, handling many different fabrics available today must know what the reaction of these fabrics is to the cleaning solvent, to the mechanical action of the "washer," to the drying process, to the heat applied in the finishing process. If he does not know, he must be able to take the time to test inconspicuous portions to find out.

The inexpensive cleaner sorts his articles, too. BUT he sorts them only into very broad classifications, so it is probable that furnishings and clothes of different weight, color, and fabric often find themselves in the same company.

Everything in the line of equipment that has been installed at the Paris Cleaners on the Benton road during the past few months would be impossible to get now, and L. C. ### LAUD MASSILLON FOR ITS WAR WORK

MASSILLON, Aug. 10.—Industrial Massillon tackled its war tasks with a fresh surge of community pride today.

The Army and Navy, for the first time honoring an entire municipality for exemplary war effort, ceremoniously saluted this city of 30,000 population yesterday.

Gov. John W. Bricker responded to the tribute in behalf of the city, lauding Massillon for harmony between labor and management.

"The story of Ohio is the story of Massillon," he said.

Col. Robert A. Ginsburgh, for the Army, declared:

"American grit and American ingenuity are accomplishing feats which all the whips of dictators could never produce. . . . Man for man, our soldiers are better than anything these Japs can put in the field. Gun for gun, plane for plane, and tank or tank, our weapons are better than anything our enemies can produce. Worker for worker, our people are more efficient than anything those Nazis can put in the factory."

Commander Leslie Jacobs represented the Navy.

Mrs. Lena Scott, mother of a Pearl Harbor hero, sponsored a "Victory Stone" unveiling at dedication of a new $1,350,000 Tyson Toller Bearing Corp. ordnance and plane parts plant. Her son, Robert, was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

Thirty-six factories employ about one-third of Massillon's population. The chamber of commerce declared that not one man-hour of war work has been lost because of labor grievances.

NUTRITION VALUE OF MILK STRESSED

It Is Indispensable For Children, Most Valuable for Adults

You will be better fed if you use more milk, says Virgil Wilson, manager of the Old Reliable dairy at 840 W. Pershing st. and he goes on to explain why.

Spice animal food is necessary in our daily meals. Milk is one of the best animal foods. It is indispensable for children and most valuable for adults.

Butter is better than other common fats, especially for children, because it contains certain substances which promote growth. Skim milk and buttermilk are valuable foods. They lack fat and consequently part of the growth-promoting substances and some of the fuel value of whole milk, but they contain the protein or tissue building material. Cheese is very nutritious. It is richer in protein than most meats and usually much cheaper. Ice cream served as a food is no luxury.

Saving Money
The value received, as well as the price must be considered in counting the cost of food. Milk contains protein and mineral matter for tissue building, sugar and fat for producing heat and energy, and certain substances for promoting growth of the body and these food substances are in such form as to be easily and thoroughly utilized by the body. Milk is now the cheapest animal food.

We must increase our production of milk. A herd of dairy cows can be eaten in a week, but it will take from three to five years to raise a new one.

The real value of milk is not generally understood. It has had a place in the diet of man for ages past because it has pleased the taste and has been comparatively easy to get, rather than because its food value has been appreciated.

No well meaning parent would knowingly deprive his child of the food necessary to give him a right start in life, much less would he do it for the sake of securing for himself something which has little or no food value. But this is just what happens when he cuts down the amount of milk used and buys coffee as usual.

A quart of milk and a pound of beef steak each contain just ¼ pound of solid matter and let the impression prevail that milk is entirely liquid and, therefore, not a real food.

FOUR FLIERS DIE IN TWO ACCIDENTS

One Plane Nose-Dives Into Street; Second Crashes Into Hillside

(By Associated Press)

Two small, privately-owned airplanes crashed and burned in the upper Ohio river valley yesterday, and two Kentucky civilian fliers were killed in each crash.

Ross Leach, 29, and Walter Mohan, 23, both of Covington, Ky., died last night when a Culver Cadet monoplane nose-dived into a residential street of Covington a few minutes after taking off from Lunken airport in Cincinnati.

Several hours earlier, a Piper Cub monoplane smashed into a hillside five miles north of Ironton, O., and killed John H. Smith, 32, of Raceland, Ky., and Carlos Wyant, 31, of Russell, Ky.

Three victims were Civil Air Patrol members, and Mohan was a student pilot.

Charles Silver of Chicago, CAA aircraft safety inspector, was expected in Covington today to investigate the crash there. Charles Rising, CAA inspector at Lunken airport, and Howard E. Crush, airport superintendent, declined to discuss an investigation they made last night.

Eyewitnesses said the monoplane, owned by Carl Ogden of Covington, dropped suddenly and brushed tree tops two blocks before it dived to the street.

Fragment Crashes Window
A propeller fragment hurtled through a window in the house of Mrs. Josephine Hall, 51, and she received minor cuts from flying glass. No other injuries were reported and a burned grocery store awning was the only damage listed in the neighborhood.

Leach was to have entered the army as a glider pilot tomorrow. Mohan was a Wright Aeronautical corporation employee in Cincinnati.

In the crash near Ironton, Smith, operator of an Ironton restaurant, piloted the plane he owned from Chesapeake airport shortly before the accident. It was his custom to fly over the farm on which he was reared, dip and wave a greeting to his mother, Mrs. Maggie Smith. A sister, Amy, was watching and collapsed when she saw the plane crash into a grove of trees 50 yards from her mother's house.

In addition to his mother and two sisters, Amy and Mildred, on the farm north of Ironton and a sister, Mrs. John McDonough of Ironton, Smith is survived by his widow and a six-year-old son at Raceland.

Wyant, a former boxer and restaurateur at Russell, leaves his widow, an eight-year-old daughter and his parents in Russell.

the rank and file of the party responded to a call for "do or die" resistance to British rule, forgetting or ignoring Gandhi's own admonitions against violence.

Strikes Threatened

Potentially more serious than the violence done by mobs was the threat of strikes in vital war industries.

While the executive committee of the Indian Federation of Labor denounced Gandhi's disobedience campaign as a "sinister move" and gave assurance of its intention to cooperate with the government, reports were current that walkouts already were being organized.

Cotton mill workers in Ahmedabad, where some of the worst disturbances took place, were said to have decided on a general strike. Trading in all Bombay markets was at a standstill.

In an attempt to break up any organized movement, the government of Bombay banned all assemblages of five or more persons, prohibited the carrying of weapons and clamped down a strict curfew on troubled areas.

The All-India Congress and its provincial committees were officially designated as unlawful organizations, dangerous to the public peace and police seized party headquarters in Bombay, New Delhi and elsewhere.

At least 149 persons were arrested yesterday in Bombay, where police resorted to tear gas and revolvers to quell disorders after they had failed to disperse rioters with bamboo staves. More than 30 were arrested in New Delhi and numerous arrests were made in other cities.

The rivers and streams of the Province of Quebec abound in black bass, speckled trout, grey trout, ouananiche, dore, and northern pike. Probably the most prized fish of all is the Atlantic salmon.

Under present driving conditions, wheel alignment and wheel balancing are of great importance. If you have driven your car more than five or ten thousand miles, it is almost certain to be somewhat out of perfect alignment.

It does not take a hard bump against a curb nor running over a bad rut to cause some part of the steering, knee-action or other parts to be bent a trifle. This will most certainly cause a slight wobble to the wheels, which causes them to drag and wear out tires much faster than they should. In time, this will cause a shaking of the steering wheel that is actually dangerous to tolerate.

If the front end assembly, brakes and tires of your car are all right your car would be considered safe to drive. Motor troubles are most annoying but seldom come in the dangerous class. It's much better to have your car checked for proper alignment and wheel balance than to invite an accident that may be serious.

Matt Klein, at 813 Newgarden ave., will make a complete check without charge and if work is necessary, you will be surprised how reasonably he will do it.

Plan Reservoir
GALION, Aug. 10.—Officials of this Crawford county city planned today a reservoir construction program to end a 20-year-old summer water shortage. The New York Central railroad has hauled 270,000 gallons of water daily 34 miles from Delaware to supply engines stopping here. City council purchased a 180-acre farm for the reservoir. The project, costing $200,000, would be financed by a bond issue.

the rank and file of the party responded to a call for "do or die" resistance to British rule, forgetting or ignoring Gandhi's own admonitions against violence.

While the executive committee of the Indian Federation of Labor denounced Gandhi's disobedience campaign as a "sinister move" and gave assurance of its intention to cooperate with the government, reports were current that walkouts already were being organized.

Cotton mill workers in Ahmedabad, where some of the worst disturbances took place, were said to have decided on a general strike. Trading in all Bombay markets was at a standstill.

In an attempt to break up any organized movement, the government of Bombay banned all assemblages of five or more persons, prohibited the carrying of weapons and clamped down a strict curfew on troubled areas.

The All-India Congress and its provincial committees were officially designated as unlawful organizations, dangerous to the public peace and police seized party headquarters in Bombay, New Delhi and elsewhere.

At least 149 persons were arrested yesterday in Bombay, where police resorted to tear gas and revolvers to quell disorders after they had failed to disperse rioters with bamboo staves. More than 30 were arrested in New Delhi and numerous arrests were made in other cities.

The rivers and streams of the Province of Quebec abound in black bass, speckled trout, grey trout, ouananiche, dore, and northern pike. Probably the most prized fish of all is the Atlantic salmon.

WILSON, PIDGEON STAR AS VISITORS WIN 11TH IN ROW

Pennsylvanians Outscore Salem Squad Badly In Final Frames

It was another hard day for the Salem Polo club who, striving to smash the Zelenople winning streak at ten games, went down in defeat under a torrent of goals in the second half, losing 14-8 on the local field yesterday.

After battling the Pennsylvanians on better than even terms during the first half, the Salem defenses crumbled in the last three chukkers as the visitors blasted nine scores through the uprights while holding the locals to a pair.

Jim Pidgeon and Will Smith did all the scoring for the Salem team with Pidgeon taking high man honors with six tallies. It was his superb work, along with Smith's, which gave the home team a 6-5 advantage at the intermission. It was a different story in the second half, however, as Doc Wilson and Dave Smith turned on the heat to tally eight goals between them.

Pidgeon and Smith gave Salem a 3-2 edge at the end of the second chukker but the end of the second frame found the score deadlocked. Pidgeon broke loose in the third period for another brace of goals and once more Salem led.

"Doc" Wilson, stellar No. 2 man for the visitors, combined with Smith to give Zelenople a 9-7 edge in the fourth stanza. The following chapter was comparatively scoreless as the visitors outscored Salem, 2-1, on the strength of goal by Wilson and company.

Wilson and Smith tallied three goals in the final frame as Salem went scoreless and the game went in the scorebooks as No. 11 in a row for the visitors and their fifth victory in six battles with the locals.

"Doc" Wilson tied Pidgeon for high man honors each scoring six times while Smith and Murphy each tallied a trio of goals for the visitors. Salem's Will Smith was the only other Salemite able to crash the scoring column.

The scoring:
Salem: Pidgeon, 6; Smith, 2; Zelenople, D. Wilson, 6; Smith, 3; Murphy, 3; T. Wilson, 1; Camp, 1.

419 SHIPS SUNK IN WESTERN ATLANTIC

(By Associated Press)
With the sinkings of 12 more Allied and neutral merchantmen officially reported last week, the Associated Press tabulation of such wartime ship losses in the western Atlantic area topped today at 419. In the newly-disclosed enemy submarine attacks, a total of 62 seamen and passengers were killed, 52 others were missing and more than 700 rescued by United Nations' fleet and landed safely at Caribbean and United States ports. Sinkings announced since Aug. 2 included six U. S. merchantmen, two Norwegian, one British, one Russian, one Panamanian and one Uruguayan.

13-2 Count

Unlimbering some of their heaviest batting force of the season to back up a five-hit pitching job by "Whitey" Carroll and Heinaman, the Lake Placid nine banged out 16 hits to defeat the Cleveland Athletics on the lake diamond yesterday, 13-2.

Paul Stratton and Dawson paced the vicious assault upon three Forest City pitchers with a trio of safe blows each, a double and two singles apiece. Ted Schwartzhoff also aided the cause with a mighty drive over the right field wall, chasing in two mates who were riding the cushions at the time.

The Lakers as good as sewed up the game in the initial stanza when Miller led off with a single to open a four-run rally. He went to second when J. Schwartzhoff was safe on an error. Art Maley singled scoring Miller but was forced at second by Ted Schwartzhoff. Paul Stratton weighed in with a long double and Dawson doubled to put the finishing touch on the splurge.

Carroll and Harold Heinaman, who divided hurling honors for the Lakers, each whiffed five men and walked two in his stay on the slab. Miller led off with a single to open a four-run rally. He went to second when J. Schwartzhoff was safe on an error. Art Maley singled scoring Miller but was forced at second by Ted Schwartzhoff. Paul Stratton weighed in with a long double and Dawson doubled to put the finishing touch on the splurge.

Cross and Sims drove out two hits apiece to take batting honors for the visitors and both figured in the Cleveland rallies which netted single tallies in the fourth and eighth stanzas.

The Lakers will play hosts to the Alaquippa, Pa., Young Men's Republican club next Sunday with game time scheduled for 3 p. m.

REDBIRDS WIN TWO FROM BUCS, SLASH DODGERS MARGIN

Bosox Move Into Second As Cleveland Bows In Twin Bill

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Most baseball teams will go to great lengths to win their games but few of them have had to go as far as the Chicago Cubs, who needed 18 innings yesterday to trip the Cincinnati Reds in the opener of a double-header.

Twelve pitchers, the most ever used in a major league game, paraded to the mound in the struggle, longest in the majors this season and the seventh extra-inning affair for these two clubs in 13 meetings.

Three times the Cubs figured they had it in the bag, but each time the Reds tied it up. Finally Hiram Bithorn, last of six Chicago hurlers, blanked the Reds for six straight innings and the Cubs sandwiched the 18th inning blows of Stan Hack and Dom Dallessandro between a walk and an outfield fly for two runs and a 10-8 decision.

The game itself lasted six hours and was interrupted for another hour by weather in the 13th frame. That left only an hour of daylight for the second game, which the Reds won, 2-1, in four and a half innings, with Bithorn the starting and losing hurler.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals squeezed past the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 and 2-1, to trim Brooklyn's lead to eight lengths. The Dodgers bumped into a postponement at Boston.

At Philadelphia, the Giants tripped the Phils, 3-2, in the first game when Mel Ott laid down a 10th inning bunt with the bases loaded, but Bill McGee made things easier in the second game, pitching a five-hit shutout as the Giants won 2 to 0.

In the American league, the New York Yankees increased their lead to a dozen games and the Boston Red Sox moved into second place, although neither team tied a bat.

It all came about when the Chicago White Sox clipped the Cleveland Indians, 11-1 and 3-2, dropping the Tribe half a game behind the Red Sox.

The Detroit Tigers had the help of 11 St. Louis errors as they downed the Browns, 9-3 and 3-1. Double-headers between the Red Sox and Washington Senators and the Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics were postponed until today.

REVAMPED CHISOX CLIP TRIBE TWICE

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The long wait between games is telling on Cleveland's pitching and hitting to the extent that the Indians have dropped back to third place.

In the first major league session in four days, the Tribe lost a double-header to the Chicago White Sox yesterday, 11-1 and 3-2. The twin clubbing put the Redskins a half game behind Boston and 12½ behind New York, both of whom were idle.

Cleveland will have a chance tonight to gain the final game of the delayed three-game series when Chubby Dean goes to the mound against the Windy City club.

Mel Harder was the victim in the first game yesterday. The Chisox clipped him for four runs on four hits in two innings, and filled the bases for him in the third before he went to the showers without retiring a batter. Harry Eisenstat finished the game, allowing five safeties in six sessions.

Meanwhile the veteran Ted Lyons was scattering four Tribal hits, including Ray Mack's second home run of the year. In winning the 25th game of his career, Lyons fanned seven and walked one.

Redskin eyes were sharper in the second contest, which the Indians tied up in the ninth, and lost in the home half of the same frame.

SALEM, N. H.—George D. Widenor's Rosetown won tenth running of $5,000 Rockingham Handicap at Rockingham park's get-away program.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' Halberd and Thomas Howell's Olympus annexed races at Saratoga, Halberd taking two-year-old special and Olympus triumphing in mile and three-sixteenths $7,000 handicap.

Off Hargroves, 5 runs, 4 hits in one inning.
Base on balls, by Carroll, 2; Heinaman, 2; Robinson, 2; Garrison, 3; Hargroves, 1.
Struck out by Carroll, 5; Heinaman, 5; Robinson, 1.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 10.—Big Billy Smith, Jr., and pint-sized Keo Nakama, Hawaiians, are as inseparable outside of water as Damon and Pythias. But, once inside the "drink" lookout, brother Smith, sensation of the national A. A. U. men's outdoor swimming championships which ended yesterday in a heavy downpour of rain, and Nakama, Ohio State sophomore, met twice during the three-time work for the keeper of the records.

Yesterday, the 17-year-old Smith and his buddy clashed in the 880-yard free style grind and both broke the world's record. Smith's longer reach provided the margin as he touched out in 9 minutes and 54.6 seconds, 13 seconds better than the listed international mark recorded by Ralph Flanagan of Miami, Fla., seven years ago. Nakama was a fraction of a second off Smith's pace.

The previous day, Nakama pushed his pal to the 440-yard free style world's record of four minutes, 39.6 seconds, more than a second off the standard set by Jack Medina of University of Washington in 1934.

Without the darkhaired Nakama to extend him, Smith, who enters Ohio State next month to study civil engineering, also hung up the American 220-yard free style mark of two minutes, 10.7 seconds on opening day. In all, this one-man record wrecker captured three crowns.

CULVER, IND.—Budge Patty of Los Angeles, retained U. S. Junior tennis title by defeating Tom Falkenberg of Hollywood, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Combined with Bob Falkenberg to take doubles crown.

NEW YORK—Cliff Melton, New York Giant southpaw pitcher, lost to club for remainder of year. Leaves shortly for Baltimore where "chips" will be removed from elbow.

CHICAGO—Also, out of training for two months because of leg injury, finished fourth behind defense in six-furlong sprint at Washington park. Winner crossed finish in 1:11.

CUBS, REDS STAGE SEASON'S LONGEST GAME, 18 INNINGS

Passeau Robbed of Win As Sturgeon Drops Pop Fly

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—The Cincinnati Reds required the equivalent of two normal ball games to lose a very abnormal one to Chicago 10-8 in the first half of a double-header yesterday, but they won the half-game nightcap 2-1 to retain a percentage-point hold on third place.

The 18-inning opener was the longest major league game of a season near three-fourths gone, but it generated enough excitement to keep all but a handful of 15,326 fans in the stands until Umpire Tom Dunn called the nightcap after four and a half innings.

The first game was delayed by weather for a full hour in the 13th frame. A postponement was announced, but when the weather changed it was countermanded for a clamorous crowd. The whole show ended seven hours after the first play-ball.

The Reds and Cubs set a modern major league record in the opener by using a total of 12 hurlers, six each. The New York Giants and Philadelphia Phils used 11 on Sept. 6, 1924—a record last equalled by the New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns July 24, 1940. In all the Reds used 20 players; the Cubs 17.

A walk, Stan Hack's fifth hit of the game, and a double off Elmer Riddle by Dom Dallessandro enabled the Cubs to score the winning run with one out in the 18th. Hack scored on Phil Cavaretta's fly.

Sturgeon Drops Fly
Until the ninth Claude Passeau had a 4-0 shutout, but with two out and Bert Haas on third, Shortstop Bobby Sturgeon dropped Dick West's pop fly and the Reds chased Passeau with a walk, two-run double by Gee Walker and game-tying singles by Eddie Joost.

The Cubs had scored three in the first inning on four singles and another in the seventh, last frame pitched by starter Bucky Walters. The Cubs contributed a bunt, and the Reds a walk, passed ball and two-run wild pitch by Clyde Shoun to allow two Chicago runs in the 10th, but Cincinnati tied it at 6-6 on a hit batsman, single, and West's two-run single.

Hack doubled after a walk and Dallessandro singled to put the Cubs ahead by two again in the 12th, but Joost knotted the game at 8-8, doubling after Lonnie Frey and West singled.

Johnny Vander Meer needed only 61 minutes to get his 12th victory in the nightcap. A single and Eill Nicholson's double scored a Chicago run in the fourth, but Vandy gave just two other hits and fanned five. Both clubs were idle today.

THIS FARM WILL SATISFY THE ENTIRE FAMILY
Eighty-four acres located about three miles north of Salem on good paved road in excellent neighborhood. This farm is in a class by itself and can hardly be described properly in the space available here.
It has a good seven-room house with furnace, electricity and water system. Large, new bank barn with stanchions for 18 cows, drinking cups. Good steel silo, chicken house, other necessary outbuildings. Both house and barn under slate and newly painted. This is a perfect tractor farm and is in a very high state of cultivation. Land is ideal for potatoes and has produced more than 300 bushels per acre in good season. Other crops today also will speak for the productivity of the soil. I have tried to list this farm for the last two years, but the owner has never been willing to sell. Now, however, I am authorized to offer it at the price of $9,000 which is extremely reasonable for a farm of this quality.

BOMBERS HAMMER AT SOLOMON ISLES

Reports Are Meager and Cautious On Fourth Day Of Attack

Midway and Coral sea battles—both stunning Japanese defeats.

Allied sources failed to mention the presence of any transports in the attacking fleet but Admiral Nimitz' reference to enemy land garrisons was interpreted as intimating that the operation was amphibious.

Today's communique from MacArthur's headquarters, without mentioning the Solomon Islands battle fleet, reported Sunday attacks by Allied planes on three enemy bases in New Guinea and New Britain.

The Allied bombers struck both by day and night at the key Japanese base Rabaul, in New Britain, shooting down five enemy Zero fighters with the loss of one Allied bomber; raided Gasmata, also in New Britain; and inflicted new and heavy destruction at Salamaua, New Guinea.

Coinciding with the attack on the Solomons, a task force of the U. S. Pacific fleet went into action thousands of miles to the north, bombarding Japanese ships and shore bases at Kiska, one of three enemy-occupied Aleutian islands stretching southwest of Alaska.

A Washington communique indicated this attack was over but results probably will not be known until the attacking force returns to its base.

DEATHS

MRS. ANNA BARTCHY

Mrs. Anna LeRue Bartchy, about 68, died at 8:20 a. m. Saturday at the home of her son, Paul, in Wooster, following a seven-years illness.

She was born Sept. 12, 1874, in Leetonia and spent her entire life in Salem until her husband, John, died in 1933, at which time she went to Wooster to make her home with her son and his wife. A member of Salem chapter No. 334, Order of Eastern Star, she was a past worthy matron of that order.

Surviving her are one son, Paul, of Wooster and one sister, Mrs. Francis Savage of Whittier, Calif.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Stark Memorial in charge of the Eastern Stars. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the memorial this evening.

MRS. LENA METZGER

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Lena Metzger, daughter of Cook Shepard, of Seattle, Wash.

She is the sister of Mrs. Anna White of E. Fourth st. and Jess Shepard, of Salem.

Burial will be in Seattle.

OHIO PROGRAM TO HELP WAR EFFORT

Conservation Guide Will Be Distributed to Mayors, Officials

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Aug. 10.—Ohio's drive to aid the war effort by conserving manpower through safety practices, staggering working hours and sharing rides to ease transportation burdens receives another boost this week.

Highway department officials said today the "most practical manual yet offered" as a guide for establishing such conservation practices would be ready in a few days for distribution to Ohio mayors, industrialists, office building managers and others desiring to make the system effective.

The manual was prepared by the War Transportation Conservation committee under supervision of the Office of Defense Transportation from data compiled largely by the highway department. The information was gleaned, officials said, from conferences on such subjects in other states and Ohio surveys and tests.

About 20 communities in the Lima area have been participating in recent tests of the share-the-ride program for motorists. Officials said good results were obtained by establishing 20 depots at central points where drivers could pick up workers who ordinarily would drive their own cars.

Traffic safety is one of the vital needs in war-busy Ohio, officials said, to conserve manpower lost through accidents. The department said 141,000 reported traffic accidents in the first six months of 1942 cost Ohio $38,359,000 on the basis of national safety council estimates of the cost of average accidents.

Traffic density figures for the first half of this year show that Ohioans are heeding plea to conserve cars, tires and gasoline, officials said. Traffic density outside Ohio municipalities for the first half of this year decreased 15.93 per cent below the corresponding 1941 period.

AIR FORCE ATTACK IS PROMISED SOON

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of the United States army air force in Britain, declared today the American Air Force was ready to begin attacks upon Germany "within the immediate future."

"The American Air Force and the Royal Air Force have worked in such full cooperation that we are proceeding ahead of the actual schedule," he said.

"Within the immediate future operations in accordance with plans that have been in the making between the Royal Air Force and the American Air Force will commence."

Declaring his gratification at the helpfulness of "our British ally," Spaatz added:

"Our enemy at the appointed time will feel the might of a thoroughly coordinated British-American air force."
